Gardening Tips for March in Zone 5 (Redfield)

Written by Bill Hotchkis (Master Gardener in training) & Janell Ketelsen MG

Wow! What a turbulent winter we are having. After all the snow and blizzard conditions we had in January, we started February with temperatures in the 50 to 60 degree range. Many of my flowers, shrubs, and fruit trees started to bud. I took my advice and put additional wood chips around plants that sprouted in the hopes that they will survive the next cold temperature plunge we are likely to get. Why are we even thinking about gardening? There are always things we can do to help with the survivability of our plants whether they are inside the house or outside in our harsh Iowa conditions.

Gardening "To Do" Tips by Month for Redfield, IA

- Start some indoor seeds...flowers like petunia, snapdragon, impatiens, and celosia. Vegetables like broccoli, cabbage, and cauliflower.
- Take soil samples in your garden and take them to our local cooperative so they can test for acidity or alkaline content. Get their recommendation on how to balance the soil pH.
- Prune fruit trees, berry bushes, and other woody ornamentals while they are still dormant and apply a dormant oil spray to your fruit trees to help control insect feeding.
- Some plants like poppy, nigella, larkspur, and peas need a few weeks of cold weather to germinate. Direct sow outdoors where they will grow best – even if there is snow on the ground.
- March is the time to start tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, broccoli, cauliflower, and cabbage inside.

Our March PA student introduces himself, "My name is Collin Steuber and I am a PA student at DMU. I grew up in Fairmont, MN before attending Iowa State University for undergrad. In high school I participated in football, wrestling, baseball and was a trumpet player in the band. I was fortunate enough to make multiple state appearances during my time in high school. In college I majored in biology, and my minor was psychology. In my free time I enjoy watching sporting events, going to the gym, and playing various board games with friends and family. I also have a pet cat named Morgan to give me company during my free time."

Immunizations: Remember that it is much safer to be vaccinated than to get a disease a shot can prevent. Since the flu season runs through March, it is not too late to get a flu vaccination. And we are seeing a flurry of influenza B in our area during the past 2 weeks. Flu shots are available at the Redfield Clinic or your pharmacy.

Covid Booster: Although COVID infections have decreased lately, a COVID booster is recommended especially for those with chronic illnesses or people older than 65 years old.

Shingles vaccination: A shingles shot and a booster 2 months later is advised for anyone over 50 years of age to prevent the painful blistering rash caused by that virus.

RSV vaccination: The Respiratory Syncytial Virus shot is recommended for everyone 60 years of age and older.

The COVID, Shingles, RSV and Flu vaccinations are available at most pharmacies and usually covered by insurance. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. And you are protecting yourself, your family, your friends and neighbors with weakened immune systems (like from chemotherapy), and the very young and the very old.

Our February PA student, Emma Theis, has moved on to her next family medicine internship in Brazil, South America. She wishes to thank everyone for their friendliness and for helping her to learn medicine.

Des Moines University PA student Collin Steuber will be interning at the Redfield Medical Clinic in March.

- Remove dead growth from your asparagus patch. Side dress asparagus and rhubarb with nitrogen fertilizer.
- Remove mulch from established roses & strawberry beds: remove dead leaves from any perennial plants and take them to the composting bin.
- Sow grass seed in your yard or in bare patches if the weather allows.
- Fertilize your perennial beds with a balanced fertilizer, such as 6-12-12, and your vegetable garden with 12-12-12.
- Keep notes and a diagram of where & when you plant, type of fertilizer used, the variety of plants you grew...if a problem occurs you need to know how to treat it and document the results of your actions.

Redfield Lions Club

Submitted by Secretary Bill Hotchkiss

The Redfield Lions Club met at the Legion Hall on February 12th at 6:30 PM with eight members in attendance. President Matt Castille called the meeting to order.

By the time you read this our Spaghetti supper had been held and it was a great success. Over the scheduled serving time we served spaghetti to around 80 people, and the desserts that people from the community brought were delicious. I did not eat spaghetti but went straight to the desserts (and had more than one!).

Thank you to all who volunteered to serve, bring salads, and desserts. You are the folks that make this a fun event to put on, and the proceeds go to help those in our community with the different projects we do.

There were 4 areas of discussion at this meeting. They were:

- We continue to process your cans and bottles at the can shack – thank you for your support and your donations.
- Our glasses depository is now cleaned up and is ready for your donations of old glasses you might not use any longer. These donations help others to see more clearly. Thank you!
- We have had meetings with the Dexter and Stuart Lions clubs about the LEO group. Support is strong within the Lions and now we are waiting for additional information on how to proceed.
- We are excited to work with the Lions club out of Dexter and Stuart. There were representatives from their clubs helping at our spaghetti supper, and we will be helping them with their fund raisers in the future. When a hardship comes into our communities, the local lions try to find a way to help and working together brings more “boots on the ground”

Our Redfield Lions Club meetings are held the 2nd Monday of the month at 6:30 in the American Legion Hall and last about one hour. Come on over to see how you can become a Lion and serve Redfield with a little of your time. We are always looking for new members and new ideas on how to serve Redfield.

Words cannot express our deep gratitude for all of the family, friends and folks who have reached out to us after the tragic fire at the Dexfield Diner & Pub. Our entire family and staff have poured our hearts and souls, blood and MANY tears into turning this business into a community staple. We feel to our bones that we are NOT DONE here! This horrible thing HAS to lead to something bigger and better for the community. So many have asked what we need, what they can do and said they just want to help. We are trying to figure everything out as far as rebuilding goes. That process will be dictated by insurance etc. They are still investigating the cause of the fire so we are at a standstill for physical action at the site. Our focus now is on what CAN we do. Let's be real, we know we're going to need money. The restaurant is gone but the bills are still there. If you know much about the business you know it's a cycle of money in money out. Have a great sales day to pay for the food you just had to buy and so on and so forth. Now, the "money in" part of that cycle is gone. We are not rich nor do we do this to become rich. Otherwise, who would ever own a restaurant or become a teacher. ;) However, some of our staff rely on this income to survive! We will need help making sure those on our team have what they need while we rebuild. Some have families with kids still at home and some are young adults just getting their paths started. They will all need things! Groceries, toilet paper, paper towels, gift cards to eat at other local restaurants because face it, they all have diner food in their blood! Do not get Captain Jack any alcohol as his personal bar was far superior than his award winning pub bar. ;) Kilroys Bar is collecting donations and we are super grateful. First State Bank in Redfield will have an account set up for any contributions. Rodney Mulder from Steve's railroading days is setting up a Go Fund me. Other than that please be warned of scams and fake accounts. We PROMISE you will all hear from us IMMEDIATELY and LOUDLY when the time comes for clearing debris, swinging hammers, cleaning beautiful treasures and EVERY part that will come with the physical rebuild of our dream. We have seen that we will not have to do this alone and although we do not want to ask for help we will need it. Please be on the lookout on our social media for what is next. We love you all!
